Connie
what a fun year
you're really going to have to go to Club X with us sometime. You better
call me sometime
this summer and we can go out and do something. well
what a color change!
well are you going
go to Jeans for Teens or Bees Sting at the Greek Theatre in Berkley I hope
you do, well I guess
I'll see you at Starr gaze or shopping I'm don't get in touch. Love Mary M.

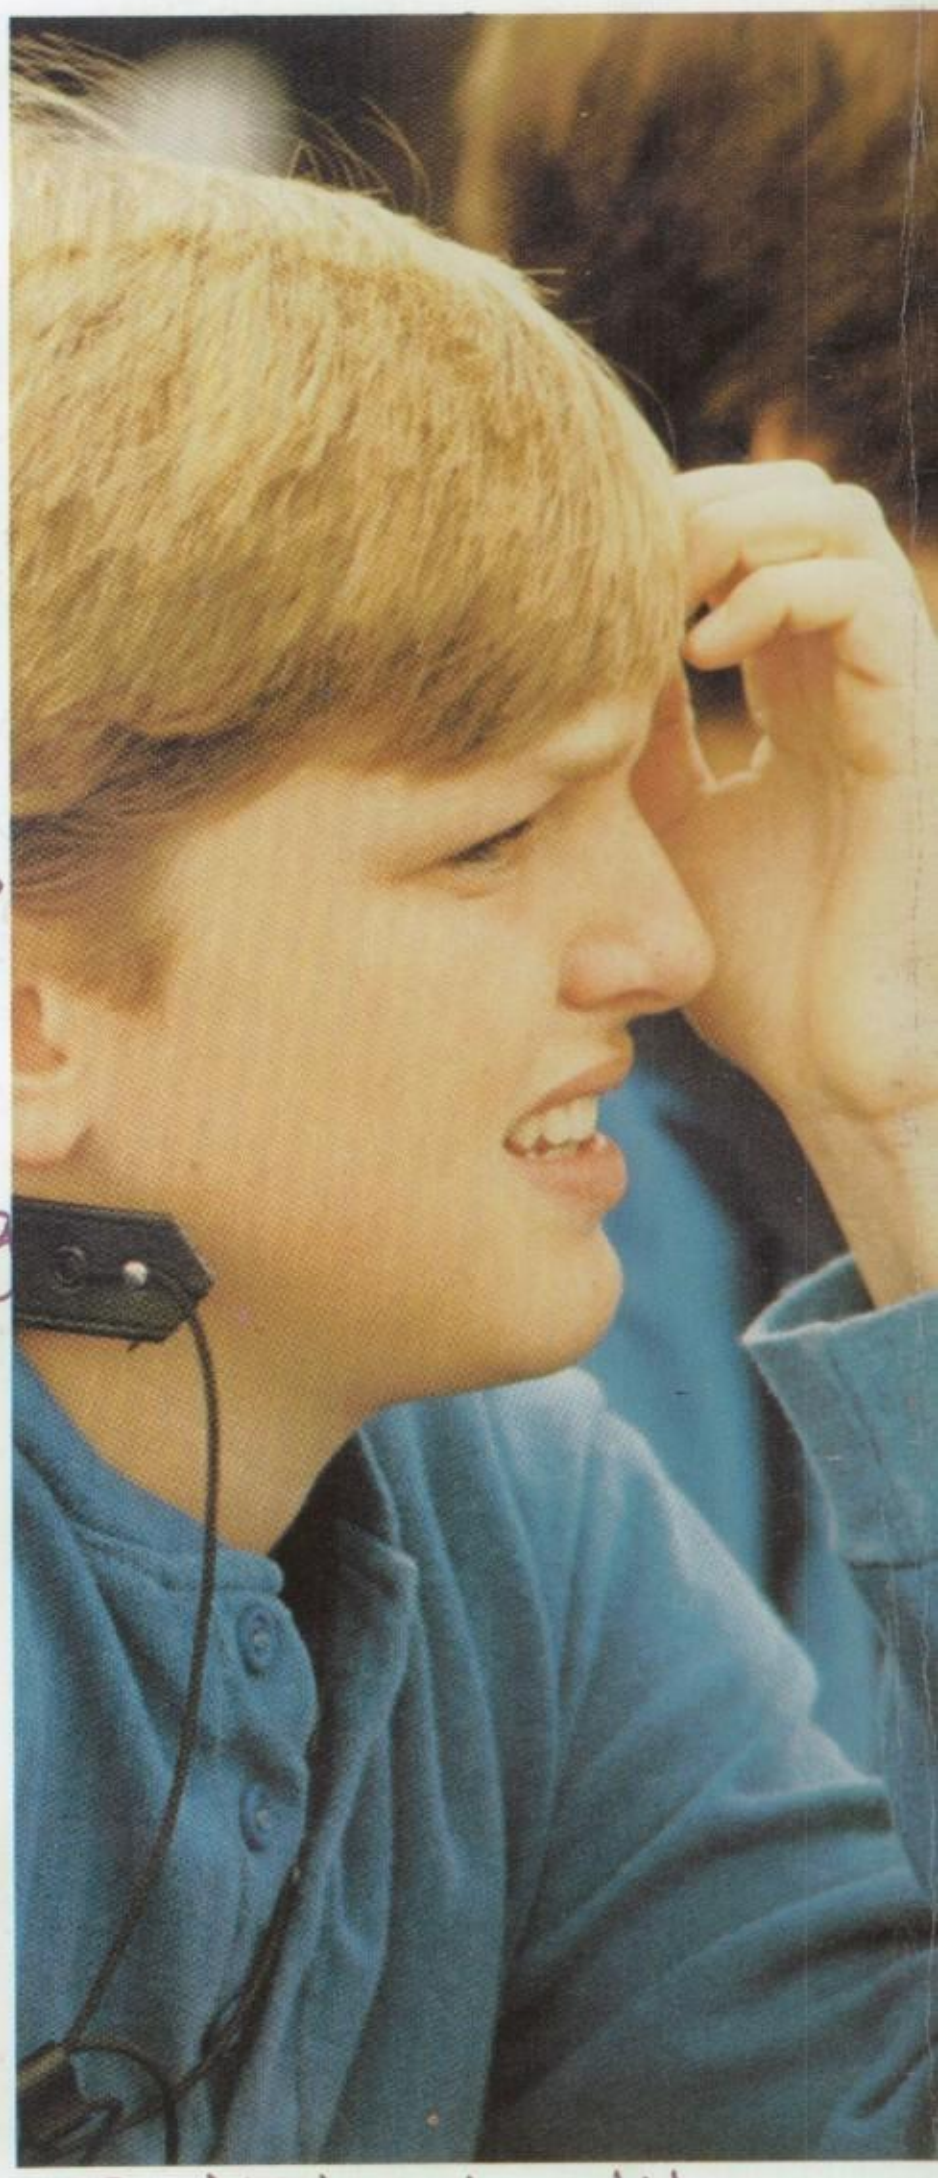
One Of A Kind

Every day 600 people pass through our doors. Students of every kind; athletes, non-athletes, the studious, the not-so-studious, the serious, the not-so-serious.

We came from all walks of life. We are all different. And yet, we're all the same. We all want to love and be loved. We want success, happiness, a sense of belonging. We want friendship. Friendships gained at VCHS are special because of the bond we all share in Christ. We can risk loving one another because we know that Jesus first loved us. As different as we are, that special bond of Christ unites us and makes us all one of a kind.



Dear
Bestie, cutie, darling, etc.
Wait, why am I writing to myself?
J.K. To my bestest friend in the entire world! you're probably wondering why I am writing in your yearbook nuh? well, I'm lying out by the pool with absolutly nothing to do except to get my back tanned and I thought what the heck! I might as well privilige you with our memoirs. Starting from when we first met until now. This is going to take a wh o.k. there it goes. This your life!

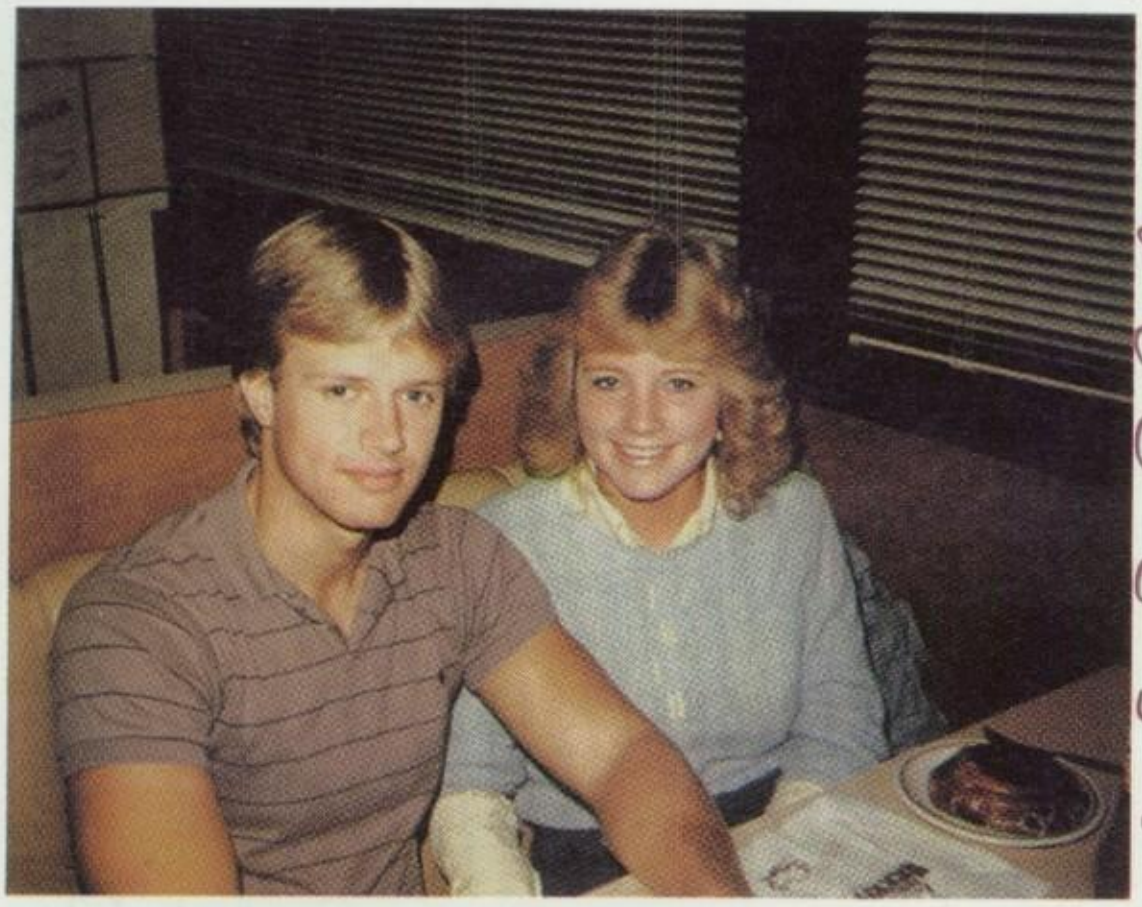
Remember when..... we first met? You we sitting at home probably dying to go to school but noooo... you had to go and get sick. Too bad it wasn't the Chicken pox. Ha Ha.



Anyhow, that was also when I met your mom and sister. God, Carol was such a lard but now we can't even find her. That was also the time that your mom was nicest to me. She probably wanted you to get some friends since you had absolutly none. Geek! Parkview was the worst with Nicol, Vicki, Valerie and yes Sean. He was the best! I can't believe that I am still in love with him. One day we will look him up But he'll probably look down. (I'm such a Geek. you can tell that I am in a stupid mood right now.) Any now, lets forget about Parkview because of Ronnie. He ruined our lives for 7 years until last year. We are going to have to do something about him soon! It was his fault that we couldn't see each other but don't forget that others helped. Yes, Zit face Gina and King Kong Melody. How's that those two! anyhow we are not involved with those trees anylonger and can finally live in peace. Don't forget Herman! How can we? you may ask? That was also the work of me and Gina and Angie

4 you and Nikki and Sharon. what "Great" friends we had!. Remember when we both liked Paul? And then Ronnie?. Uh, lets forget about that O.K? What about Bill?. I can't believe what a snorty he is now, did he shrink? Maybe we grew...well, not that way cuz my mirror tells me that, what about yours? Miss 36-24-36 ? Ha! Ha! we did have some good times though but you knew more my memory is! Last year was the best for me. I met a lot of purple & made lots of Uh, friends! That's it, we'll call them that for now. But of course who can forget when my dad said that we could finally see each other? That was one of the happiest moments of my life → this letter is being interrupted for a word from Michelle Iversen. "Gosh, Deb is such a waldo!" → She is such a geek and anyhow, if you see her with black & blue bruises tomorro, you'll know what happened. No, it is not bondage you pervert! Lemme get back to my train of thought. Oh yeah we were talking about how happy I was! It was all downhill from there. J.K. You know I love you not that way you dog! We had such an interesting summer last year. Let me refresh your mind.

First, our pool excercises. We were so firm! I really think this picture is quite gay! Don't forget the 2 weeks we spent watching the entire 280 hours or so of the summer Olympics! Mitch, Pablo, Greg and others. That was the funnest! Remember SuperSlowmo? That was sucha laugh. Oh, and let's not forget to make reservations from now on, especially for Hungry Hunter (Starved). What about going to see Ghostbu afterwards. Me in my pink angora and you in a dinky dress. Too bad we didn't make any money off of it. Chuck should have come up and said hi, but he was probably too scared of us. Well, I am too. Ha! Ha! After the Olympics, who can forget our time spent with Eric Bosh! He is sucha nice guy but you know what we really think about him. Lets call him shadow from now on. Whenever he looked at me, I felt absolutely naked, those incredible blue eyes Too bad its on him we have to call him so that he can take us out. We can see Craig and the faction. I think that it will be really fun! (Lets ditch him)

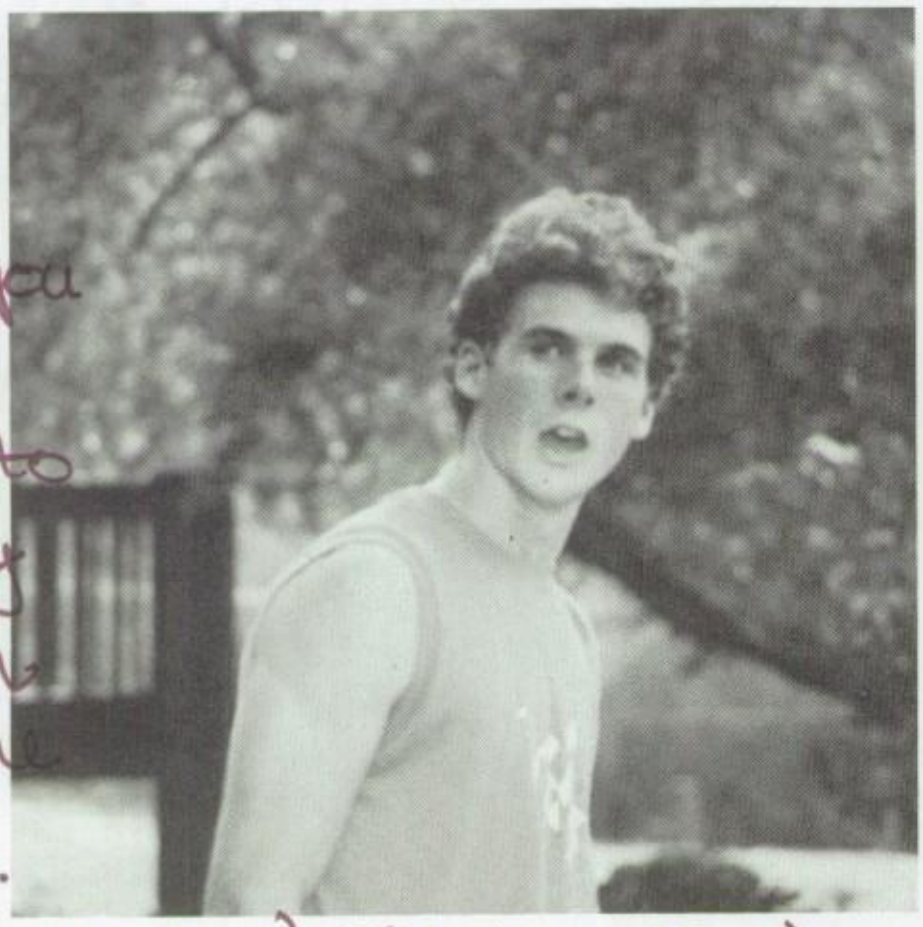
Why don't we climb over the fence with no underwear on like Shannon did and ask him so help us over? what a sight! He'll probably run away !!

I forgot all about our skinny-dipping excursions. On my part it would be called deep fat frying excursions, you skinny woman you. The moon, the stars, the bugs, the 50 plus laps and of course the sprinter women to the cover whenever someone came out. All the talks we had about guys, sex, and guys again. How you were going to marry Mitch and me Paddo.



who knows? Maybe one day they will come true! Connie Gaylord and Debbie Morales, what a pair! We'll conquer the world! San Francisco was the best. Our Frenchman and Pier 39. We will do that more often, since we'll be driving soon. The petticab was the climax of the entire day. I want

Mr. Honker, you get Pierre. (I decided that since we don't know his name, I'll make one up.) Shopping for school clothes was the biggest hassle but at least our perms made it more bearable to go out. Our favorite saying was, "All we have to do is wake up and spray it back." No more! never again! I refuse to put my hair up on the side like a ponytail. We will neve forgive Marie for that nice layered cut that you got and my absolutely nothing. When we got our perms, it was the beginning of a nightmare. My cutting my hair 12 inches and yours (wet, green) beautiful uh, auburn hair! We will reach our desired style by senior year, I hope! Please Joe Montana go away! I don't want to look

Dedication

She walked into Algebra II on her first day of school and was cheerfully greeted by a smiling teacher. As the days passed, the enthusiastic teacher helped her feel as a part of the class, yet, still an individual. When she had difficulty with her work he patiently explained each problem until she understood. He was always there to talk about something or just chat a little. That year, along with learning math, she learned more about God's love through this teacher's life.

Mr. Chris Schnaidt has been teaching at Valley for three years. Along with teaching Algebra I & II, he coaches boy's basketball. He keeps the class interested by his good humor and is very committed to his class. One student quoted, "He's very organized and adds humor to Algebra II." Another said, "He rips us off by making us pay 10¢ a pencil to pay for his lift tickets!" Mr. Schnaidt's life reflects his relationship with Christ. Each time you pass in the hall he's ready with a smile and a cheerful word. Interested in what's going on in your life he has a way of making each person special. His commitment to his classes and teams has added a special touch to many students' year.

The Vanguard staff would like to thank Mr. Schnaidt for what he has contributed to this school by dedicating this 1984/85 yearbook to him, truly One of a Kind.

so sick of it. I should have been nominated for an Oscar for best actress. But telling and showing everyone that you don't like them doesn't solve the problem either. All you do is end up losing all of your friends. Our boy troubles were terrible.

Daunte, Eric, Tong, and let's not forget Ron. I am so sick of guys. We can't trust them with anything. Never again am I going to look for a guy. I am still young and theres bound to be someone out there who will accept me for who I am and not treat me like dirt. But that's not fair cuz I was not very nice to Daunte and Eric either. You know who I really like now, but we both know it is useless cuz we have nothing in common and he hates me. Oh well, I still have you, don't I? No, I know you love me just as much as your other bestest friends. Too bad that I am not as pretty as them.

Senior '85

I truly believe that you are going to get the best guy in the entire world if you just wait. Guys are just scared of you because you are everything that they want in a girl and you are so classy. No Joke. They are going to take notice and have to fight them off. Remember, you can always share with me. Anyhow, never again will we go to Oakridge. Come on babe in a dress? I will never again make a fool of myself by knocking over a display sign and breaking the perfume bottles in Macys. We can still get free massages by Jesse. Wait he is gone but what about Steve. He has to take us up to the City and Castro Street. Remember the gymnastics competition? Bart & Joe are definitely related. Mitch looked the best and Mary Lou, well? Let's not talk about her. We're not too beautiful with the pox! I felt like one big zit ready to be popped. I am so scared! You did not enrich me like I did you with your beautiful pox face. I was too crushed!

pool where we worked our brains out in, we will for sure do it again this summer. It became kind of ironic on us these past few weeks and ometimes I was really scared that we'll never ee each other again but I think that God finally ad mercy on us. I hope that we won't have to

I'll Remember You

I'll remember you
No this isn't just another town
I'm passing through
Though I might not know you
All by name
The way I feel is still the same
I believe the Lord has brought me here
And I'm glad I came

I'll remember you
And I'm sorry that the time we have is almost through
But the special thing that means so much
Is knowing we can really touch
I can tell just by your faces
That you feel it too

What happens to our lives?
They slip away so fast
We turn around to find we're older
Our hearts are crying out
For something that will last
If you listen now there's a
Still, small voice at your shoulder

And before I go
There is something very special
That you all should know
For the Lord of love
Is here with you
And He'll fill your hearts
If you ask Him to
And I'm proud to be the one
To share the happy news
I'll remember you
And He'll remember you
I will remember you

The Inevitable Disease

It's 2:30 on a hot Monday afternoon. Mrs. Carr goes on and on with her lecture. Kirk Kintzel dozes off in the back of the room. James Lageschultte sits next to him grabbing at things that aren't there. Scott Welsh tries desperately to figure out next weeks football plans. Mike Kottke pretending like he is looking at notes is actually reading the new edition of Super Ford.

It's 8:30 in the morning. Cindy Andresen looks sleeply at her clock and notices that she is late. She runs into the bathroom, brushes her hair and then decides she doesn't want to go to school and goes back to bed. Five minutes later her mother pulls her out of bed and sends her off to school.

These are common symptoms of Senioritis. A disease contracted by most seniors, the only cure is graduation. Senioritis does not only consist of boredom and tardiness but also of devilish schemes and huge amounts of wild energy.

A lone Freshman makes a bold venture across the Senior Lawn. Halfway across he gets jumped by "10" seniors. They throw him on the ground and roll up his shirt, and start to slap his stomach fiercelly. This act of lawn enforcement is more commonly known as "Pink Bellying". Although there is a cure, this disease has become an epidemic, that shows that this class is definately "One of a Kind."

Significant Seniors

Ready to greet you with a smile are Michelle Van Groningen and Dave Boss.

Batting her eyes Lori Lindberg acknowledges fellow flirt, Derek Maness.

Dawn Treat and Jon Brink could have "Eyes Without A Face."

"A basket, touchdown, and a goal?" Janine Szpara and Scott Welsh are most athletic.

"What more can you say?" Cameo Wallace and Bob Holden are best all around.

Climbing the corporate ladder are Kristin Mushet and Larry Vallandigham.

Never a dull moment with Leah Fields and Jon Downey, class clowns.

Our talented Rhonda Crabtree and John Kraus are caught "Singing in the Rain."

Always dressed in high fashion are Cindy Andresen and Thom Hudson.

Julie Gilman and Kal Avera are ready with a cheer.

This summer is going to be the best and next year even better because of our boys!(I hope that were gonna have dates for our own birthdays!) We will not go to the beach and make our friends buy their own food! Poor Suzi! The yacht party is going to be the party of the year. Remember all of our plans for this summer? Getting jobs, being able to drive, having boyfriends (hopefully) and many others. Since Carol is gonna be gone, hopefully it will make it easier on you. Remember that even though we are mad at mom + dad sometimes they do things like that because they love us and also cuz they are Asian!. Don't we know it! you're going to be 16 soon and I just turned that but doesn't it seem as if we've known each other forever. I feel as if we are sisters instead of best friends that that scares me. Maybe you'll turn into Carol! (J.K.) You know I love Carol!

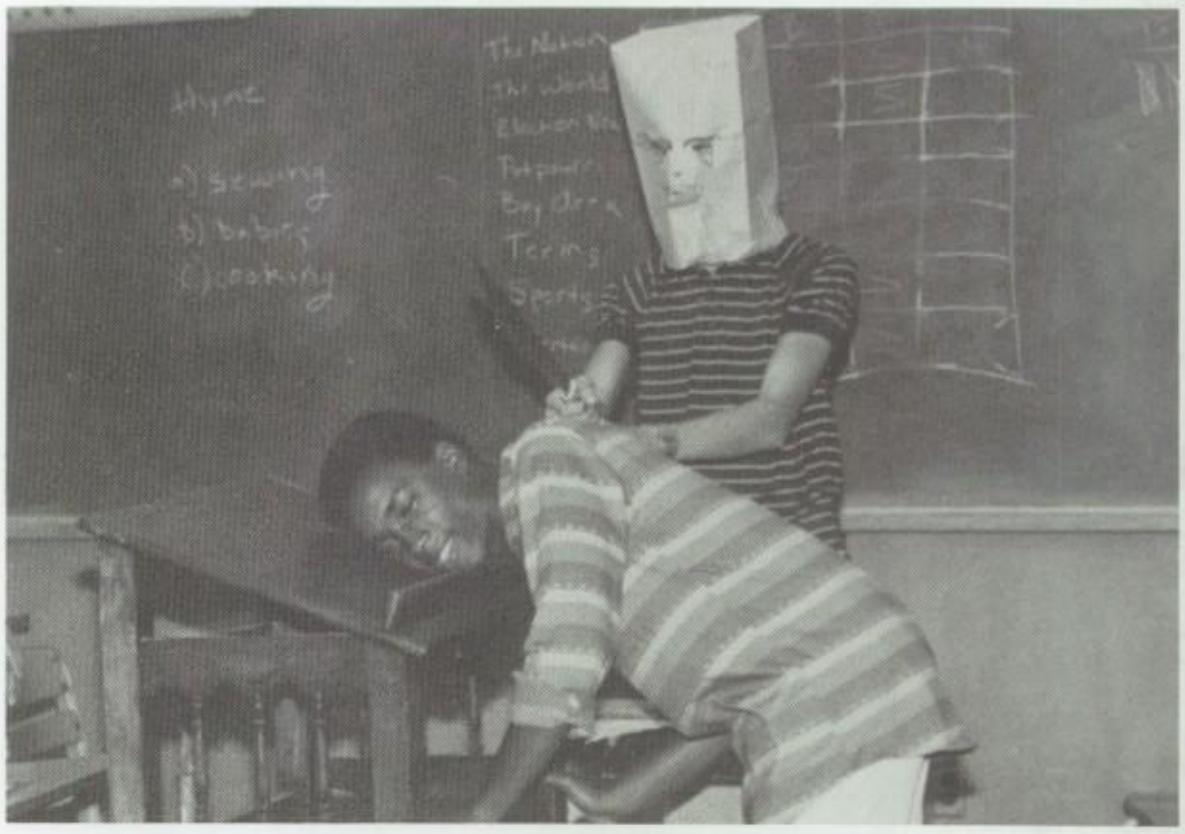
Friday's Fright

Friday morning Joe Junior nervously awaits getting called on for his current event. As he slouches in his seat he awakes out of a daze when he hears, "Joe you're next." Slowly but with a cool look, he rises from his seat and steps to the podium, where he is the attention of 30 watchful eyes. His voice is shaky as he tells a joke he got the night before in the Reader's Digest. As the class fakes a laugh to make Joe feel good, he continue in summarizing his article: He hands his article to Mr. Nardi and retreats to his seat in humiliation.

Every other Friday Mr. Nardis' History class goes through a similar situation. First, you begin with an attention getter such as a joke, skit or poem. Second you must summarize a current article in the news, and then relate it to your audience. According to Mr. Nardi, "This years classes were particulary creative and I thoroughly enjoyed current events."

The Management

The class watches Excutioner Vollenweider prepare to behead Brother Ed for 20 points.



Jamie instructs Mr. Nardi to take two of these and call her in the morning.

Dear Connie, (Conní!)

It has been so fun talking about all kinds of music! What are we gonna do when the Quake departs?!

It's so sad! (sniff, sniff) Oh well, lately I'm gettin' in the Creative Source (jazz on KSJS). You know, I just decided that I don't really like this "grid" theme they used on our yearbook. It's like some "trendy" attempt at "new-wave"-ness! Well (well, well?) I have to leave now.

Love

Amy Holden (Amee)!

P.S. Someday when we are both old ladies I'm gonna find you and catch you by surprise and hit you in the butt with my big purse!!

"Dad, can I borrow the keys?"

As I stood at the corner of my street at 6:00 in the morning, I nervously awaited my doom. Today was the big day, my first driving lesson.

Mr. Barsaleau cheerfully pulled up to the curb in the driver's training car, and with a big smile on his face said, "Good morning!" I had a feeling that it wasn't going to be the best morning in my life. As I got into the driver's seat, Mr. B told me where everything in the car was located. I slipped the key into the ignition, put my right foot on the accelerator and my left one on the brake, and then attempted to start the car. Mr. Barsaleau patiently looked at me, and said, "You have to fasten your seat belt first, and don't press the brake and accelerator at the same time." Well, I finally got on the road when we passed a group of kids, who looked at me and started to laugh. I was so embarassed that I failed to notice the car in front of me stop, and I almost hit it.

I eventually did make it through driver's training. I also got my license. Now I can confidently approach my parents on a Saturday night and say, "Dad, can I borrow the keys to the car?"

Chris Clark gets excited for his first day of behind the wheel training.

Ron Turrubiatte and Vasili Stratton attempt to kidnapp Kelly Welsh.

I am going to try and get you and Carolee together for sure. He is the best. To bad he won't go for me but I only have eyes for one guy. Well, let's not talk about eyes cuz my vision is too hot and he is probably in reality a girl!

We have experienced more things together than any others that I know. Even though our luck is the worse, we have been exposed to more things and have learned more. Unlike others who have all the luck! (Cindy + Carol) God is probably doing us a favor! He should give Cindy + Carol favors too. I guess we are just too lucky!

Hello, Mom?

It is after the big game. Everybody takes off in their CARS. Everybody but one person who stands at the telephone booth and talks into the receiver. "Hello, Mom? Can you come pick me up?" This is the plight of the "unloveable". Yes, we are talking about the Freshman. These poor kids get more than their share of kidding and teasing. Forced into an unknown atmosphere, they have to learn to adjust and to that I tip my hat. Being a Freshman is not easy, there are places you can't go (ie: the Senior lawn), and privileges you don't get, such as your own window at the student store. You also have to live in constant fear of being "attacked" by seniors.

The Freshman year is not all that bad. You are exposed to a whole new world. It is the first stepping stone to one of the greatest adventures . . . your high school years. Just remember you won't be a Freshman for ever!

Administration

An administrator is one who directs. Valley's Board and administration has been carefully set up to direct the school in the best way. This chain of command has proved to be very effective in leading the school.

The Board is made up of businessmen in the community who are parents of children in the school. They are responsible for determining the direction of the school.

The administrator or superintendent takes the general policy set by the board and sets specifics. Then he works with the other administrators to carry out the policies on the separate campuses. Teachers carry the specifics out in the classroom activities, and the counselors work as mediators and deal directly with the students with specific problems.

Other people that help keep the school functioning are the secretaries, custodians, and bus drivers. The PTPF Board is a group in charge of raising money for improvements in the school and aiding in school activities.

Our thanks go out to these leaders who have so willingly and diligently led the school for 25 wonderful years!

Seniors Ease On Down The Road

"Eighty-five, Eighty-five! . . ." The sound roared through the gym at another spirit week pep rally. They cheered, waved signs, yelled and even dressed up for each day of the 1985 spirit week. Their spirit and unity along with their hall and pep rally brought the senior class a first place for the week which, of course, ended with a victory for Valley over Berean at their homecoming game.

Their Road of Life theme illustrated themselves as continuing on the road through all that life brings. They tied this into their decorations and dress throughout spirit week. After graduation the road will turn for each senior, but here they celebrated where their roads have met for these few special years.

The Senior Retreat in October was a great way to begin the year. Two days of games, singing and sharing brought the class closer than ever. The speaker and singer, Paul Brown of Los Gatos Christian, challenged all get to know each-other and make their last year great.

The Senior Trip in March proved they had done just that . . . The Class of '85 visited Knots Berry Farm, Beverly Hills, and Contemporary Nite at Disneyalnd. A special highlight to the trip was flying instead of traveling for hours on a hot bus. Besides the two days of sleeplessness, the trip was a great time for all.

There has never been and never will be a class like the Class of '85! Along with having a great time the Senior's pulled together as a class to participate in school events. Their enthusiasm and unity made their best year something to remember as they move down the Road of Life.

Waving "Speed Limit 85" signs the Seniors cheer at their pep rally to gain more spirit points.

Richard Dunavan and Linn Sonneman begin their last stretch in the obstacle course of life at the Senior pep rally with the lead.

With their trusty driver, Tom Hudson; Alicia Simpson, Lisa Voshage, Wes Skiles and Tammy Mine continue their trip to school on the Road of Life.

1985 Class Officers: Kristin Mushet, president; Becky Prickett, treasurer; Beth Pecota, secretary; Carolyn Miller, vice president. These people were responsible for pulling together the many activities and class functions.

Dave Mc Callum and Beth Hergenroeder guard Life's Changes in the game, "This is your Life!"

Dressed for the occupations of life the Seniors march into the gym after letting green, yellow and red balloons loose from a giant signal. The class's great participation gave them first place in spirit week.

↑ wait, is that my stomach?

Junior Activities

"The comeback player of the year" is the best way to describe the class of 86. This year they not only showed more spirit than they ever have but they were able to compete with the other past more-spirited classes. With the pendulem of spirit still on the rise, this classes future shows more of the great spirit. After just missing first place in Spirit Week, with their wonderful Best in the West theme, they rebounded and united to show more spirit than before. The class was not only the Best in the West but many felt the Best in the School.

Sophomore Activities

The Next Best thing to Heaven is the Class of '87. This years sophomore class have been much involved in both schoolwork, with Drivers Ed., and spirit, with their tremendous effort at Pep Rallies. Their awesome effort was displayed in their well thought through angelic theme. This theme helped them in the decorating of the gym and their second place victory overall. Both the Freshmen and Sophomores got acquainted through a great activity which involved both classes. This years sophomores officers seem to have everything under control.

Fate Of '88

The class of 1988 showed more spirit this year then other past Freshmen classes. Led by four exciting leaders, they showed the other classes what the fate of 88 was all about. With a strong showing during Spirit Week and numerous zany outbursts during pep rallys this year, this class showed the student body that this years Freshmen class has enough energy and enthusiasm to carry on throughout the next three years.

ASB adviser, Miss Bonnie Sue Lewis, has given much of her time leading and teaching the executive council.

Leaders Point The Way

The meeting begins as Larry Vallandingham, ASB president, taps the gavel on the table. After secretary, Lisa Bosakowski, reads the minutes of the previous meeting, reports are given from the chapel coordinator, John Kraus; vice president, Kelley Gott; treasurer, Cathy Christian; head cheerleader, Julie Gilman; and the class councils. Then new subjects are discussed. Votes on whether or not to approve a money grant for a special need or a new club or policy change are executed. Each issue is discussed thoroughly with the good of the student body in mind.

Beginning with an almost brand new council, ASB banned together and pulled off a successful year. Setting the goals of serving the school and learning to be effective leaders was a strong base. As a new addition, the complete student council participated in a study of Old Testament leaders and detracted ideas from them. Each ASB member had a specific and very important job. The president, Larry Vallandigham, oversaw and effectiveiy planned work, along with heading the meeting each week. Kelley Gott, vice president, did a splendid job planning and carrying through the many school activities. The secretary, Lisa Bosakowski, efficiently typed minutes, agendas and flyers, took notes at meetings, and did the files. Cathy Christian, treasurer, kept a very accurate account of all money spent and received. Her assistant, Alene Fezzolare, helped out in many ways. Our exciting and challenging chapels are the results of our chapel coordinator, John Kraus's work. Julie Gilman, head cheerleader, promoted school spirit and interest in cheering through pep rallies and consistent cheering. Debbie Hamm, our publicity director, provided us with posters and flyers informing us of upcoming events. Patty Wright worked in the student store and represented it in the meetings. Miss Lewis, ASB adviser, supported and advised the group in a strong way. The four class councils also worked together to provide for each of their classes.

Each ASB member worked hard and united they planned and executed many exciting activities - ending up in a great year! Quoted Lisa Bosakowski, "There's a lot more to ASB than people realize, but it's a lot of fun!"

Providing The Fun . . .

Miss Lewis, ASB Adviser, serves the pizza at the Great Eskate.

Although some may prefer to sit home and watch T.V., the ASB provided activities above and beyond the boring routine. Starting off the 1984-85 year, the Kick-off Barbeque was planned for our first home football game. There, many enjoyed the famous Peek-a-Burgers prepared by our principal, Mr. Neil Peek, and celebrated Valley's victory over Mitty. The Great Eskate provided a break from studies and fun for all who came. Accompanied by a Western theme, students enjoyed new games, new friends and, inevitably, new bruises! Sparing no expense, the ASB planned a spirited Christmas Party. The recent movie, A Christmas Story was presented, and each class worked hard to decorate a tree for the one-hundred dollar prize. The annual Ski Trip, as usual, was a highlight in the year. Almost two-hundred traveled to Squaw Valley this first weekend of March to enjoy a thrilling two days on the slopes. Each activity throughout the year served to bring students closer together in friendship and in the common bond of Jesus Christ.

Homecoming 1985

Celebrating 25 Years Of God's Blessing

Homecoming at Valley seems to be getting bigger and better every year. Homecoming 1985 was no exception! This year's ceremony included the alumni as well the current students. After the game a buffet was held in honor of the Homecoming Court, and for the previous graduating classes, which was followed by an excellently prepared slide presentation releasing many memories and tears of years past. This mini-reunion was extremely thoughtful and well received.

The actual homecoming program was beautiful as usual as each couple promenated around the gym arm in arm to the tune of Almost Paradise before taking their seat in the court. The court consisted of the top representatives of each class who were voted in by their class to be honored and to represent their class. The entire school voted for the King and Queen, which left the spectators in much more suspense than the following Varsity boys' basketball game as Valley pounded Berean by over twenty points. Crowned as King and Queen were Scott Welsh and Laurie Sutton. Congratulations! You are fine representatives and deserve to be honored. Also, special thanks to Miss Sharon Nuss and the Homecoming Committee for their hard work and selfless attitude. Homecoming at Valley is truly Almost Paradise.

Reigning Queen, Shelly Sabanovich places the crown on the newly announced Queen, Laurie Sutton.

Laurie Sutton screams as she and Scott Welsh are announced as the 1985 Homecoming King and Queen.

His Secret Even Worked On My Brother!

Chapel is put together by our chaplain, John Kraus.

My brother is a little Freshman who can't sit through anything. I can still remember thinking, "He's never going to make it through chapel." I was wrong. He made it through our first chapel, and the one after, and the one after. In fact, he began to look forward to chapels on Wednesday mornings. It was almost like magic. So when I ran into John Kraus, our chaplain, I had to find out his secret.

"It's a time for people to grow closer to God, and learn more about the way God wants us to respond to his love toward us." says John Kraus excitedly. It isn't easy work being chaplain. Speakers have to be booked months ahead of time, and it often takes hours to contact a speaker. Then John has to have the speaker approved by his advisor, Mrs. Carr and finally Mr. Peek. When choosing a speaker for chapel John looks for someone who can challenge the students, as well as keep their attention. We had many good speakers such as Ron Rearick, an ex-con, and Randy Young, the youth pastor from Calvary Community Church. For spiritual emphasis week Scott Hagan, the high school pastor at Bethel Church, challenged us with a message. He has started an issues and answers meeting every Tuesday at lunch. He's also started an outreach program where students go out and witness once a month.

John doesn't want to make chapel monotonous by having speakers every week. So, he asked several drama and musical groups to perform for us. In fact, he even got the school involved by having a student chapel once every semester. Band, choir, and drama even got a chance to share their talents with the students.

"I want chapel to be a time to look forward to instead of dread," says John Kraus. Well, John you've done a good job. You're secret even worked on my brother.

Even band gets a chance to show their talents.

Karen Watson, Sandra Watson and their friend open chapel.

Concert Band Goes Hawaiin

As they practice sheets and sheets of music the sound of Aloha plays in the back of the band members' minds . . . Flowered leis, tan bodies, surfing, coconut shells, palm trees, and Hard Work! This April the band was a part of the International Music Festival in Hawaii which included top bands from all over the world. In order to go the band dedicatedly raised money and worked hard on their music quality. Because of this their expectations became reality.- The Band competed successfully and had a great time in Hawaii!

The many other concerts done by the band in the 1984/85 season showed their improved quality. Captured up in the sounds of a winter sliegh ride, the audience enjoyed a nearly perfectly performed Christmas Concert. A Christmas Concert for a handicapped school was a highlight for the band and for the many who excitedly listened. A talent-filled solo ensemble concert in February and a successful spring concert in May topped off the spring season.

The band gave a great show at the ACSI Band Festival in April. Many players from Valley were chosen to perform there in the annual Honor Band. The ACSI Solo Ensemble Festival brought Superior Ribbons and Command Performances to many who took the chance to participate.

The 1985 Concert Band worked on and successfully performed many difficult pieces of music including Toccatta and Psalm 46. They learned to be committed to what they did in order to be the best they could. This shwed as they took the honor to perform in Hawaii among the best!

On another early morning of practice, Sandi Barefoot joins in with her The individual participation in the band is what makes the band wha

String Ensemble

The String Ensemble: John Kraus, Tim Gilman, Christina Miller, Kristen Folden, Susan Johanson, Judy Johnson, instructor, John Elmore, David Cripe Back: Gary Dennis, Keith Vollenweider

Four days a week, sharps and flats ring out of room 28 as Valley's string ensemble practices and upgrades the quality of their music. Quality not quantity is the general feeling of the group. They would rather play fewer pieces well than several pieces poorly. This attitude showed in their selection to play before the faculty of Biola college. They were chosen out of 15 string ensembles over the country. They also won command preformance for the second year in a row at the ACSI Festival. The group has grown from 4 to 9, or 10 if you include Mrs. Johnson who plays the viola and instructs the group.

Their outstanding performances show that their work in room 28 pays off.

Newcomers Kristen Folden and Susan Johanson contribute their talents to the String Ensemble.

Kosako Teaches A New Way To Sing.

"Put some spirit into your singing!" says Mr. Kosako enthusiastically stomping his feet, as Wes Skiles plays the piano.

This is what you would see if you walked into choir on any ordinary day. It's a lot of fun, but when it's time to get serious, the students in choir get serious. Mr. Kosako views choir as being very special because music plays a big part in the scriptures. He also emphasizes unity in the group, and believes that our choir should sound like one voice.

At the beginning of the year choir performed in chapel. Second semester they plan to minister to several different churches. The students have grown spiritually, as well as learned a lot. Their main focus is to glorify God through their singing. "It was a lot of fun having Mr. Kosako as our teacher this year," says Wes Skiles. "We learned a whole new way to sing."

Looking at their director, our choir sings in unity, and sounds like one beautiful voice.

Heidi Herschbach listens attentively as Mr. Kosako gives instructions.

Ensemble 1984-85

Mr. Kosako pours out his heart in a song.

This years ensemble, under the artful direction of Mr. Kosako, had yet another outstanding year of exciting experiences. Their busy schedule included performances at Bay Area churches and a superb performance at the elegent Villa Feliz Restaurant. After the ensembles solo concert at the end of February, they traveled to Los Angeles for three days of touring. Thanks to the dedication of the ensemble, our spirits were uplifted every time they performed in chapel. Their God given talents expressed yet another way we can praise our Lord.

Drama Takes Action

In the early part of the year, Drama I and II pulled together to perform Spoon River and the Word of God. Although a difficult play to put on, each actor's participation and dedication made it successful. Working as individuals and as a group they learned values that would stick with them the rest of their lives.

Grant Me Love, written by students in the Drama II class, was perfectly performed as a Valentine's Day play. The Drama II also put on The Diary of Anne Frank later in the year. The ACSI Speech Festival, Drama Day, and the Rotary Club Speech Meet were other events the Drama classes participated in.

Along with acting, the Drama classes worked on setting and pursuing goals for themselves. They worked to use their acting to glorify God in many ways. Acting for God and because you love it is what makes it all worthwhile.

The people who put this book together. The yearbook staff was made up of people with alot of different talents. Larry Ramirez who always got his work done, and Todd Rhynes and Debbie Hamm who did all of the incredible art work in this book. Carol Bang and Derek Maness could always be seen doing their layouts. Tim Ruiz, Leah Feilds, and Lynn Sonneman (the people running around campus with the cameras) were our photographers. These people took all the pictures and decided which ones to use for the yearbook. Becky Prickett (my loving editor) who was always there to tell me what I was doing wrong. Tamara Polahar was the girl who handled all of the finances. Christy Amis and Kaajal Sood our editors were very dedicated. They were always out seeing the publishers about deadlines and the like. Bob Holden and Jon Ferrante wrote most of the copy in the yearbook. Last but not least your fearless leader Mr. Birdsall. . Most of the time he was the only cool head in the whole room. He worked very close with the editors and helped with the taking of the pictures. We are very grateful for Mr. Birdsall and all that he has done for us. We hope that you enjoy this book and the memories that it perserves.

Academic Decathalon

The Valley Christian High School Academic Decathalon team was made up of a select group of students with superior intelligence. The team consisted of six students and Mrs. Barbara Callisch, the team's advisor. The competition took place at Piedmont Hills High School. Out of thirty-eight schools, Valley came out a respectable twenty-first place.

James Lageschulte, a two year veteran of this grueling mental marathon, shared his motives, "It's a good opportunity to use the knowledge gained from school for something productive."

Rae Hermes and Tom "The Mind" Major represented the school in the honors category.

Most of all, however, the team had fun preparing for the competition and participated in an exciting contest. A source who wished to remain anonymous summed up the whole experience, "For something great, it was fantastic." No wonder the source wanted to stay anonymous.

CSF

CSF is an organization which honors scholarships to those students with academic excellence.

Being a member of this organization provides students one free day off each semester, along with a group field trip.

To qualify for this high honor, students must fill out an application that must be accepted by CSF adviser Steve Niedrauer. Students need at least three A's and no D's or F's.

They're talented. They're original. They're entertaining. We've all seen them perform in chapel. No, they're not choir or drama or band. They're Production Bible.

This year Valley has added this new class to our school. It is a class where the emphasis is on service not learning. The purpose of the students is to communicate Biblical truth through creative means. Production Bible has performed three times in chapel. How do they come up with their skits? First they decide on a topic that they feel the school needs to hear about. They study this topic, and write stories on it. Bits and pieces are taken out of each story to come up with a skit. The skits are then performed in chapel.

"I feel fortunate because I have some of the most talented people on campus," says Mr. Kellner, who teaches the class. He tries to take each persons abilities and use them accordingly. It's a very fun and open class. For a first year class, they've done a fantastic job!

Band Marches Forward Their 2nd Year

Tina Story, the band's first majorette, finishes another great performance with the band at a home football game.

With Drum Major, Dave McCallum, leading, the marching band plays Barnum and Bailey's Favorite and marches in form for a fourth place trophy in the Santa Cruz Band Review.

They could be found every morning marching on the track or practicing formations on the field. You could also find them there at the football games all decked out in uniforms and school colors adding a spirited touch to halftimes. The 1984 Marching Band included 60 band members, 2 drum majors, a flag team, and identity set, and a majorette. Although only in their second year as a marching band they compete in two big events along with participating in school activities. Due to fundraisers the previous year, an identity set was purchased which gave the band a finished look. Dazzling new flags gave a winning touch to a winning fla team. Finally, our first majorette was a specia addition to the band.

For most schools, not much would be expecte from a two year old marching band, but Valle proved this theory wrong. In two years the ban has grown more than many schools have in te or more. This is due to the director, Norr Caulkins, and the commitment of all members When you saw them marching with the word Valley Christian in front of them you could b proud to be part of such a great school!

The band enjoys a day in the sun getting wet and washing cars for one of the many fundraisers to earn money fo their trip to Hawaii in April.

Mom, can I go to Hawaii?

Many parents heard this question after the first band practice in August when it was announced that the band had been accepted to an international music festival in Hawaii. This special honor, however, required a lot of commitment and work on the band's part. In order to go, the band had to earn almost $700 each. This was done through fundraiser after fundraiser after fundraiser! The band sold everything from candy to stuffed animals to Christmas wreaths to pizza. They washed cars, cleaned houses, babysat, and did yardwork. Along with raising money the trip required them to work especially hard on their music quality. Although they had to take extra time to get ready, their experience in Hawaii showed their commitment was well worth it!

The squad was very close with their adviser Miss Wester.

Although they are often regarded by their peers, nobody really ever considers the hard work and efforts put out by a cheerleader. The Valley Christian 1984-85 squad was no exception. The girls spent intense and sometimes even agonizing hours after school and on the weekends working on their routines and attempting to promote school spirit. They are rarely fully appreciated for their dedication and support.

But let's not get the wrong idea here. There is more to cheerleading than hard work. The close relationships built and satisfaction of a job well done are irreplaceable in the girls' hearts. Experience was also another factor in the Valley Cheerleader's success. With the exception of Nicci Koch, the entire squad had two to three years experience in the cheerleading ranks.

This summer at the annual NCA camp at Monte Vista High School, the girls won all superior ribbons and were runner-up for the Award of Excellence. At camp, head varsity cheerleader, Julie Gilman, was voted All-American cheerleader out of five-hundred girls. Julie was flown to Hawaii for a week and got to cheer at the Aloha Bowl which featured Notre Dame and SMU.

Cameo Wallace, a second year varsity and third year Valley cheerleader, commented on the results of her experiences, "Cheerleading has helped me to get involved in school in a fun and unique way. It has also opened doors for me in many areas when otherwise they wouldn't have been there to open."

The girls give much credit to Cindy Balch, as well as the Lord, for their success. Miss Marci Wester, who was also a great inspiration, was their cheerleading adviser.

The girls pose for one of their spectacular mounts.

Working hard once again, the girls collapse from exhaustion to the bench.

Is It Really That Simple?

"Oh, it's so easy to be a lettergirl. All they ever do is jump around." I heard someone exclaim as I was walking to my locker one day. I wondered if it was really that simple, so I decided to investigate.

It all started last June when each of these girls had to try out for the squad. They were required to make up their own routines which were judged. The judges looked for originality, spirit and poise before they picked this year's lettergirl squad, which is made up of six girls. These girls then went to cheerleading camp during summer where they won many ribbons. When school started in September, it didn't get any easier. Our lettergirls practice everyday for one to two hours in order to prepare for basketball, football and soccer games. These are the girls that spell out VALLEY and really get our spirit going.

This year's squad deserves a lot of credit. Every girl, except head lettergirl, Kristina Hagan, started from scratch. There were times when things were difficult, but they stuck together and worked their problems out. Each girl had someting extra to contribute to this years squad. Beth Kerns, the teams only Freshman always had original ideas. Debbie Manly was always very enthusiastic. When times were bad Laurie Sutton's warm smile always assured the others that things would work out. Patti Wright's voice could always be heard at games as she enthusiastically cheered. When one of the girls were sad it was Michele Spicer who'd be the first to help. The squad was all brought together under the leadership of Kristina Hagan. These girls learned from one another, and grew spiritually together as the year progressed. "I love each one of these girls like sisters. I'll never forget the wonderful times we shared together," said Kristina Hagan with a big smile on her face.

As I finished my investigation, I came to realize that this year's squad was a group of loving, spirited and hard-working girls. My advice for everyone who thinks that being a lettergirl is simple . . . think again.

A week at cheerleading camp, and three hours of practice everyday for three weeks was not easy work. Their hard work did pay off. They won the Northern California Junior Varsity regionals, and got a chance to go to Texas the day after Christmas, and compete there.

The people we are talking about are our J.V. cheerleaders. Their spirit and enthusiasm was evident in every game they cheered. Their devotion was felt, and appreciated by everyone. A Building Of Character

The 1984 Valley Christian Varsity Football team struggled through an up and down season. The season was highlighted by victories over Mitty and Aptos. Unfortunately, the Warriors could not carry consistency from week to week.

Head Varsity Coach Damon Gilliland had a fine supportive cast of assistant coaches: defensive coordinator- Bob "Woody" Riddel, defensive backs and receivers- Troy Gilliland, and offensive and defensive lineman coach- Kurt Staten. Alumnus Rob Egelston also helped to assist Coach Staten with the line.

Offensively, the Warriors combined an effective passing attack with a steady ground game. Tailback Mitch Thomas and fullbacks Dave McCallum and Jeff Graham controlled the running. Senior transfer Rich Dunavan led the offensive line. Junior quarterback James Sullivan broke many of the school's previous passing records. Sullivan's aerial assault on opponents, combined with a talented corp of receivers in seniors Scott Welsh, Dave Sifford, Matt Ericksen, and Bob Holden, proved to be too much for the opponent often times. The Warriors most potent offensive weapon, however, was the Sheesh Play featuring Jon Downey and Rob Jaynes.

The defense was anchored by Jon Downey and Jeff Wheeler at linebacker. Kal Avera and Myron Friesen were standouts on the defensive line. Friesen also doubled at Tight End.

Part of the team's success could be contributed to the bond of unity between the players. The team was very close on the field as well as off the field. This enabled the players to work well as a team and play better. Coach Gilliland summed up the season, "We had our ups and downs throughout the season. In spite of our adversity, the Lord still blessed our efforts. This season was one of learning and building of character."

Robert Portera and Tim Sullivan prepare to deliver a punishing hit to the receiver.

Once again, Valley Christian Junior Varsity Football has proven to be the dominating force in the Bay Five Football league. For the third consecutive year Valley has a championship football team. First year Head Coach John Diatte, along with assistant coaches Bob Uhnruh and Jeff Neal, guided the Warriors to the Bay Five league championship. Valley was 4-0 in league and 7-2 overall. Coach Diatte handled the offensive coordinating and both the offensive and defensive lines while Coach Uhnruh controlled the defensive coordinating, the defensive backs and receivers. Neal coached the special teams, the running backs, and the linebackers and ends.

On offense, the Warriors were led by freshman quarterback Carmen Lindsay. Lindsay's passing and running ability opened up the Warriors offense. In the backfield, Valley had an unlimited supply of talent. Freshmen backs Chris Thomas and Tim Salters along with Sophomores Chris Alire and Robert Portera provided the Warriors with an unequaled running attack. Brian Boulyard led a tough offensive line which opened many holes for the ground game.

Defensively, Anthony Jones and Robert Portera led the linebacking corps. The defensive backfield, with strong safety Tim Salters, free safety Chris Alire, and David Rayon, Chris Thomas and Halden Miller at the corners, proved to be very punishing to the opponent. Overall the defensive was very sound and the opposition found it very difficult to drive the field on them.

With a talented corp of Freshmen and more experience behind the coaching staff, the J.V. football program looks very promising in the years to come.

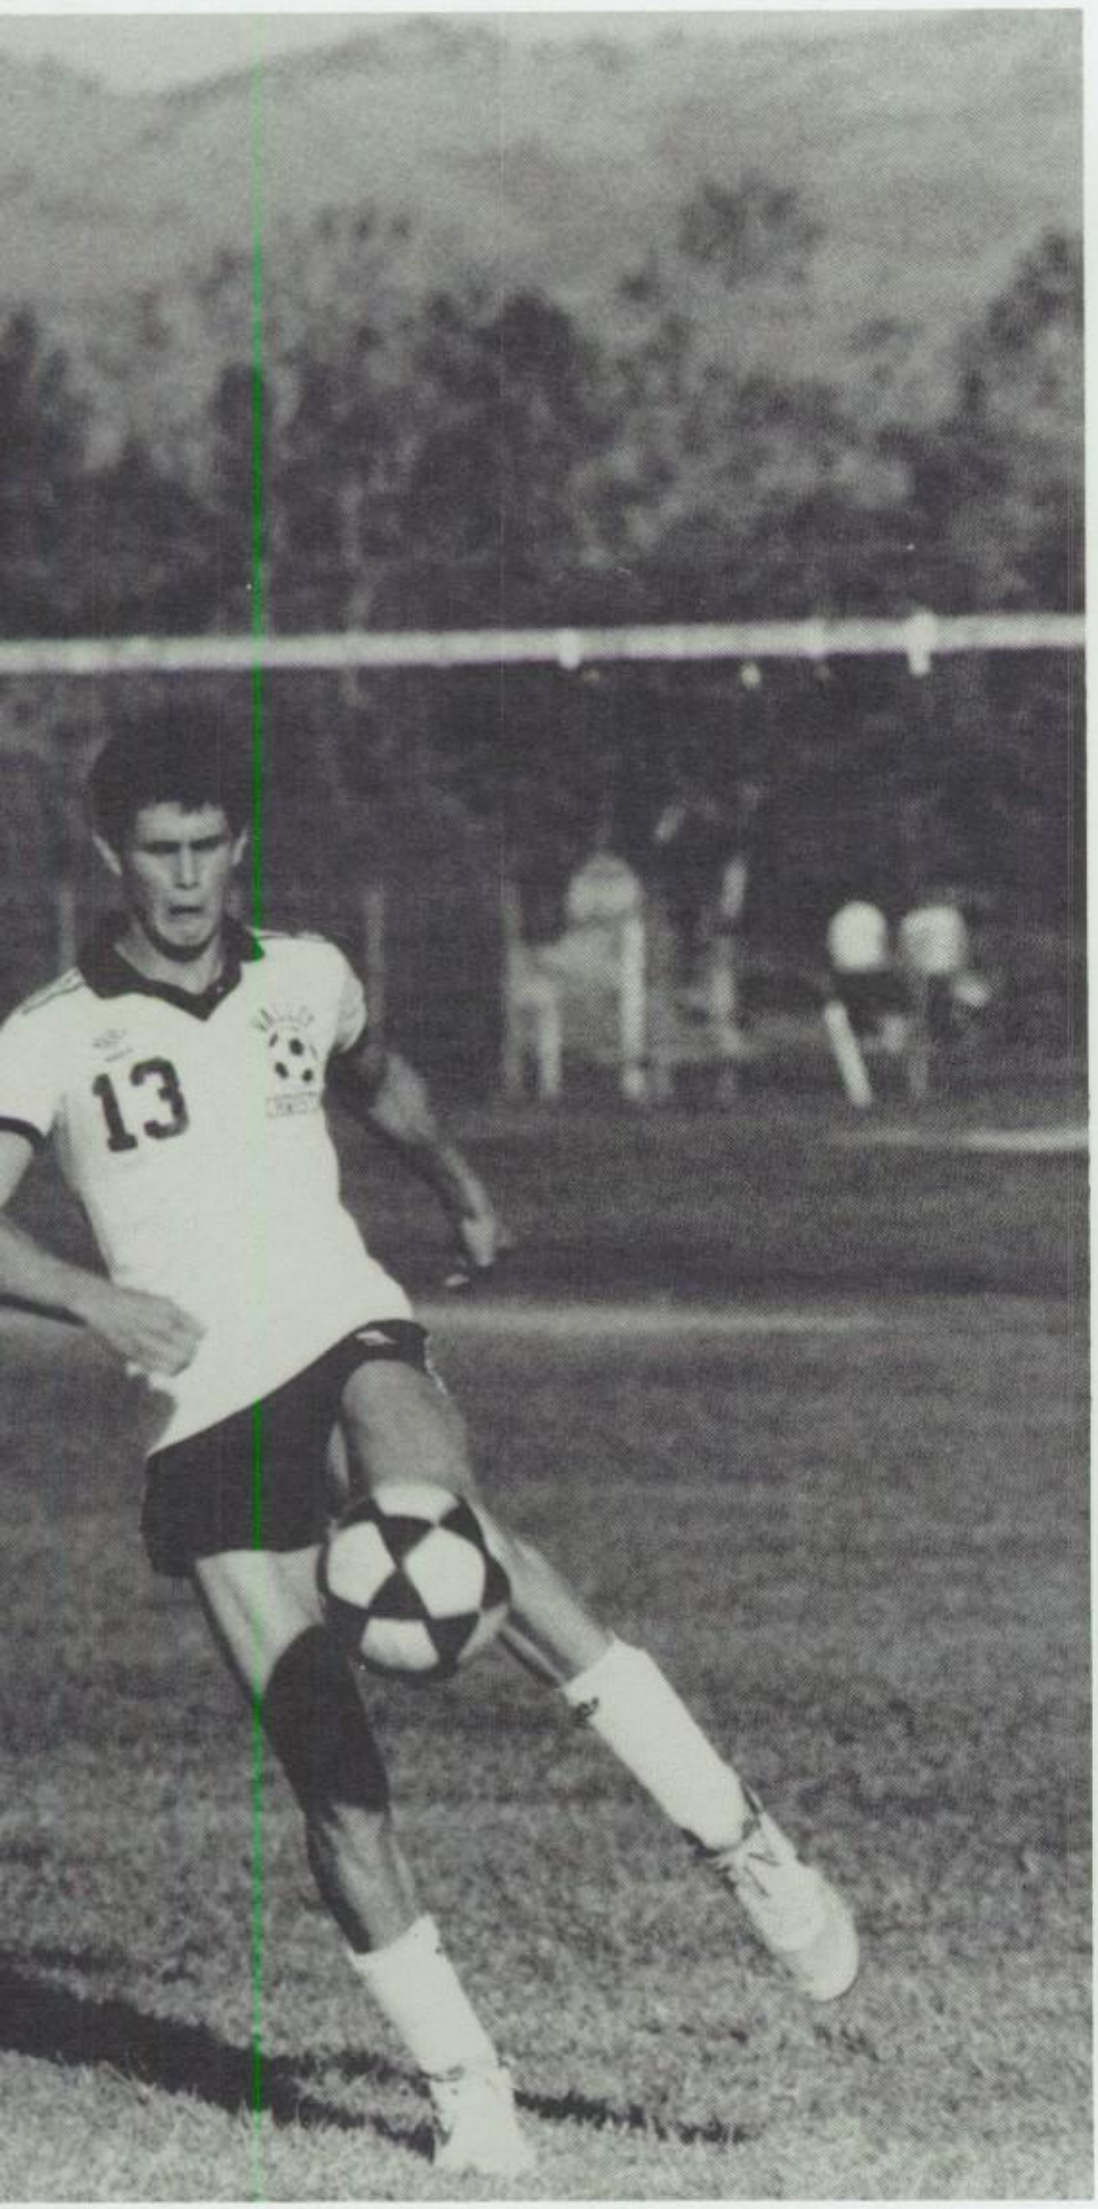
Kickin' Back

The Varsity team showed a willingness to play this year. You could see it in the way they practiced. The team spent the first two weeks of practice without a coach and made some atonishing gains on their own. Steve Hnateck said "We did good considering that we didn't have a coach the first two weeks, I think we played well." Rob Harris said. "There was a certain amount of camaradery on both the practice and the playing field." Although the team had its ups and downs, they had a very special season because of the unity of the players.

Ouch! That hurts!



"I think I pulled something!" says John Brink.

J.V. Takes The Field!

The J.V. team had a great season this year. Nathen Gay said, "We really played well. We won all of our games at the beginning of the season. During the middle of the season we leveled off for a few games but then started to play well again."

The J.V. team was spearheaded by players, Nathan Gay, Mark Johnson and Mike Pitroff. The team was successful because they had two important ingredients, experience and enthusiasm, which you could easily see when they played. We expect much more from this team in the years to come. Good going guys!

As she serves game point, sneakers screach across the gymnasium in anticipation of another Valley victory. The ball glides over the net and lands untouched between two defeated opponents.

Coach Nardi's team dominated the league for the fifth year in a row with a 14-0 record. "The team did well in pressure situations, "stated Mr. Nardi, "not to mention being hard-hitting."

A big asset to this years team was sophomore sensation Devin Scruggs who was named to the first team All League as well as M.V.P. Others named to the first team were seniors Lori Lindberg and Sandi Sadowski and another sophomore Jenny Bosadowski. With so many excellent young players the teams outlook in the years to come is a bright one.

Cross Country Team Wins League

Coach Niedrauer leads the team in prayer and discusses race strategy with the team before a home meet at Los Gatos Creek Park.

Eric Le Doux and Charles Kim pace each other with only two more miles to go!

It is easy to give thanks to the Lord when things go well, and this years cross country team had much to be thankful for. The tough Warrior runners simply ran away from the competition, finishing up undefeated in league competition.

Young talent prevailed this year with sophomores Steve Wheeler, Sean Davis and David Cuesta setting the pace. Other All League runners included seniors Charles Smedley and Kristin Mushet.

This year was Coach Niedrauer's third year coaching Valley's cross country team. He summed up this year's team as "the finest we've had." Of course, the team couldn't have done it without his constant love, encouragement and sidesplitting puns.

The biggest highlight of the year, besides defeating their rivals, Redwood Christian, was the announcement of Coach Niedrauer's engagement to Miss Sandra Spurlock. She showed herself to be an avid cross country fan by her perfect attendance at every meet. Congratulations Coach!!!

Only the Best Go to CCS

Silence reigned as the last doubles match with Laurie Sundman and Pam Wood continued. The score was tied. Therefore, this game would decide the match. Finally, the last point was made putting Valley ahead of Monte Vista, their toughest rival. Tears of joy and relief were shed. The team knew they had done it again!

Valley's 8-1 season showed their hard work had paid off. Coach Kellner spared no pain with his 4-minute run boxes and intense practices. Because of their dedication and talent they were not only the league champs, but Valley's first girl's tennis team to compete in CCS.

The position champs were as follows:
#4 single-Carolyn Miller
#1 doubles-Pam Wood and Laurie Sundman
#2 doubles-Carol Bang and Cindy Andresen
#3 doubles-Felicia Vernon and Beth Pecota
All League Players:
Amy Decker
Laura Ing
Laura Peters
Joanna Mc Millen

Along with being a team with strong players it was a strong team as a whole. For the many seniors on the team it was their last, and they worked hard to make it their best. Although the team was full of many different personalities, (from Laurie and Pam fighting while playing to Cindy and Carol constantly apologizing) they worked together as a team.

Valley was able to witness to other schools by handing out tracks to teams in preleague and CCS games. The team itself decided to do this, and they were received well.

With a scheming look on her face, Carolyn Miller, a position champion, slams the ball and helps Valley win another match.

Because the team worked so well together they became league champions and made it to CCS.

"Phew, I got it!!!" Beth exclaims after a close one. Beth Pecota and Felicia Vernon were undefeated as a doubles team in their league.

While only returning three varsity lettermen, Valley Christian still produced a strong team throughout the 1984-85 season. The Warriors completed one of the most successful preseasons ever in Valley Christian basketball history.

The West Coast Classic, Valley Christian's own tournament in which Valley took first place, included the best Christian talent on the West Coast.

Seniors Bryan Krenzin and Derek Maness, along with junior Fred Oliveri, led the squad. Senior point guard and playmaker Glenn Bishop controlled the offense while Greg DeVries and Myron Friesen provided key rebounding. The Warriors bench proved to be a very capable replacement during the year.

Coach Trent Zuhlke's game plan included a fast break offense led by Maness and an offensive plan centered around Krenzin and Oliveri.

Starting Fresh

The J.V. Basketball team started fresh this year with only 3 returning players. 3 sophomores and 9 Freshmen. The team was lead by three players, Carmen Lindsay, Ronny Harris and Mike Wilson. The team got off to a bad start at preseason, but then came on strong during league. The team was once again coached by that master mind of Basketball Mr. Schnaidt. Between his curly hair and his loud voice he lead the team to a great season, which was really hard when 3/4 of the team was brand new and never played high school ball. With nine returning players next year the J.V. Basketball team should continue to be a team to be reckoned with.

Strong Enough To Win

The 1985 Girl's Varsity Basketball team showed much poise and agility in their league record of 9-5. This team was told by Coach Delke to have "Heart and Fortitude" as they played. Quoted Mr. Delke, "Considering the injuries, the team showed a lot of courage." Beating the undefeated Redwood contributed to Valley's winning streak. This winning season was helped by the 17,8 average contributed by Devin Scruggs, and the 11,3 give by Janine Szparza. These girls were nominated to the All-CSAL category because of their display of talent in Basketball.

Under the reigns of alumnus, Coach Jeff Neal, the team experienced a successful year. Although the Warriors were not especially strong in pre-season, the team came on to prove themselves in league by coming in first place with an undefeated record.

Starting freshman, Bianca Farhadzadeh, added a lot to the team and was probably the team's greatest asset. Coming off the bench was Marianne Czaja, who helped to add to the offense and defense. Jeff Neal said that coaching this year's team was enjoyable and that all the girls should be commended for their play and actions.

Gem MacGregor sets her sights on the hoop.

Jill Scharmen scores two for Valley.

Scoring The Goal Of Victory

Completing only its third year, Valley's Varsity girl's soccer team grabbed the league championship for the second year in a row. By sticking it out through mud and rain, the team reached their goal set for themselves in the beginning of the season, — to win the league and make a good showing in CCS. Taking the league with an 8-0-2 record they did just that!

A good example of their determination was shown in an earlier game against Valley View. Although trailing through most of the game, they came back fighting and tied the game. This came as a turning point in the season. They realized' that their hard work and commitment as a team would pull them through as winners.

Strong players on the team were Karen Akers, right wing; Linn Sonneman, goal keeper; and Lisa Bosakowski, fullback.

Senior, Karen Akers makes a perfect pass across field, proving herself a valuable asset to Valley's offensive line.

Young Jennifer Bosakowski dribbles around an opponent, making it all clear for a shot on the goal. Jennifer is a sophomore, playing second season on Valley's varsity soccer team.

Shannon Hernandez charges to the ball passing her Redwood opponents.

Start Of Success

This was our first year for a J.V. Girls Soccer team. The season was basically one for learning, and building for next year. The team was sprinkled with raw talent, that really showed itself. The team was mostly freshmen so many will be returning for next years season.

"Although we did have a rough season, the team was always ready to meet the situation." This quote was taken from the teams coach, Mr. Mark Budka, who is new to Valley.

The team finished the year with a 0-4-1 record. With many returning players, next year promises to be a great season.

Youth And Courage

In only their second season of wrestling, this year was one of youth and courage. With only three returning wrestlers, Valley went through a period of intense rebuilding.

Alumni John Diatte did a good job in instructing the team. Freshman Tim Salters was a great asset to the team with his 10-1 record. Tim took second in the Soquel Invitational. Transfer student Culley Christensen added experiance and dimension to this years young team. Coach Diatte was heard commenting "The guys who are sticking with it should be commended."

Making The Splash

The sun shines off bronze bodies. Muscles tense poised on starting blocks as the swimmers anxiously await the fire of the gun. Coach Sean Murphy, with his background of world ranked swimming, prepared the team for this moment and this is where they strived. Outstanding players on the Boy's Swim Team were Dave Cripe, Steve Hnatek, Ron Power, and CCS hopeful, Matt Coggan. The only returnees were Shane Hughes and Mike Myer. "I belive the team will do well for the depth we have;" quoted Coach Murphy early in the season.

The Girl's Swim Team, led by "Kosh" Coach Harris, swam superbly for their size and youth. Most Valuable player, Dene Ehrhart was a strong asset to the team in the Butterfly. Pam Kirby excelled in backstroke, and Karen Hunsperger supported the team with her distance swimming.

The Award for Most Improved went to Janey Kieth, and Janet Eliason earned the Most Inspirational Award for her uplifting spirit on the team.

Valley's Track Team Dominates The League!

This year Valley put out another excellent track and field team. This year the grew and is Valley's largest yet. Not only has it grown in number, but also in quality. This year's team consisted of a group of hard working, ambitious, young athletes. The track team's success was due partly to the great coaching staff consisting of Coach Niedrauer, in Charge of the sprinters, pole vaulters hurdlers, and relay teams, Coach Johnson, in charge of jumpers, Coach Zulke, in charge of weight throwers, and Coach Dunn, in charge of jumpers. Some of the season's best were; Junior Keith Seal, Freshman Ronnie Harris, Junior Ed Lindsay, Senior Alisha Simpson, Senior Laurie Sutton, and Sophomore Jennifer Bosakowski.

Mike Steiner jumps up and over the bar.

MaryAnne Czaja passes the stick to Jennifer Bosakowski, the last leg of the girl's 440 relay.

Under Schnaidt, Warriors Take Flight

With six players returning from last years team, the Valley Christian Varsity Baseball season looked promising. The team started the season off slow, not playing well together. But as the season wore on, the warriors spread their wings and played to their full potential. Behind the arms and bats of seniors Dave Boss, Gary Favre, Bob Holden, Rich Dunavan and John Krause, and juniors James Sullivan, Fred Oliveri, and Ron Firstbrook, the Warriors had a very explosive offense and a solid defense.

First year Head Coach Chris Schnaidt brought the players together and taught them to play well as a team. With a talented crop of juniors on the team, the future of Valley Christian baseball looks promising.

Early Struggles Produce Seasonal Strength

In his first year at the helm of the Valley Cristian J.V. Baseball team, Coach Riddel faced the difficult task of making the young Warriors a respectable team. The team suffered through many early hardships but became a stronger unit as a result.

This season marked the opening of CSAL J.V. competition. Coach Riddel looked forward to a successful season in league.

Softball Hits Home!

It's the bottom of the seventh inning with two outs for Valley. The score is tied 3 to 3. The Varsity Softball teams strongest hitter, Janine Szpara, is up to bat. She grabs the bat firmly and looks straight at the pitcher. The crowd quiets down, and anxiously wonders what the outcome is going to be. The pitcher pitches the ball. Janine hits it with all her strength and brings in the winning run. Another victory for Valley.

This years team is unique. There are four returning players, Laura Peters, Janine Szpara, Laura Ing and Marika DeHaas, who contribute all they have, and hope to be number one in their league. There are also three exceptionally good Freshmen on this years Varsity Softball team.

"Mrs. Kellner is always excited about the game. She is really inspirational!" says Laura Peters. As a first year Varsity Softball coach Mrs. Kellner has done a fantastic job! She not only encourages her team to do their best, but also be a good testimony for the Lord, which is far more important than winning a game.

J.V. Softball

"My desire is to have God be glorified above all, and hope that each girl strengthens physically, as well as spiritually," says Tammy Charon, J.V. Softball coach. As a first year coach, Tammy feels that it's been a difficult but fun and learning experience. She emphasizes to her team that people, and glorifing the Lord is far more important that winning a game. The girls pass out tracks at games.

This years Junior Varsity Softball team is made up of fourteen girls, mainly Freshmen. Many of these girls have never played on an organized softball team before, but are doing well under the leadership of Tammy Charon. The girls have also grown closer to one another as well as God.

"Tammy has been very inspirational. We've learned a lot from her," says J.V. Jennifer Powers. With God on our softball team's side, I'm sure they'll make it.

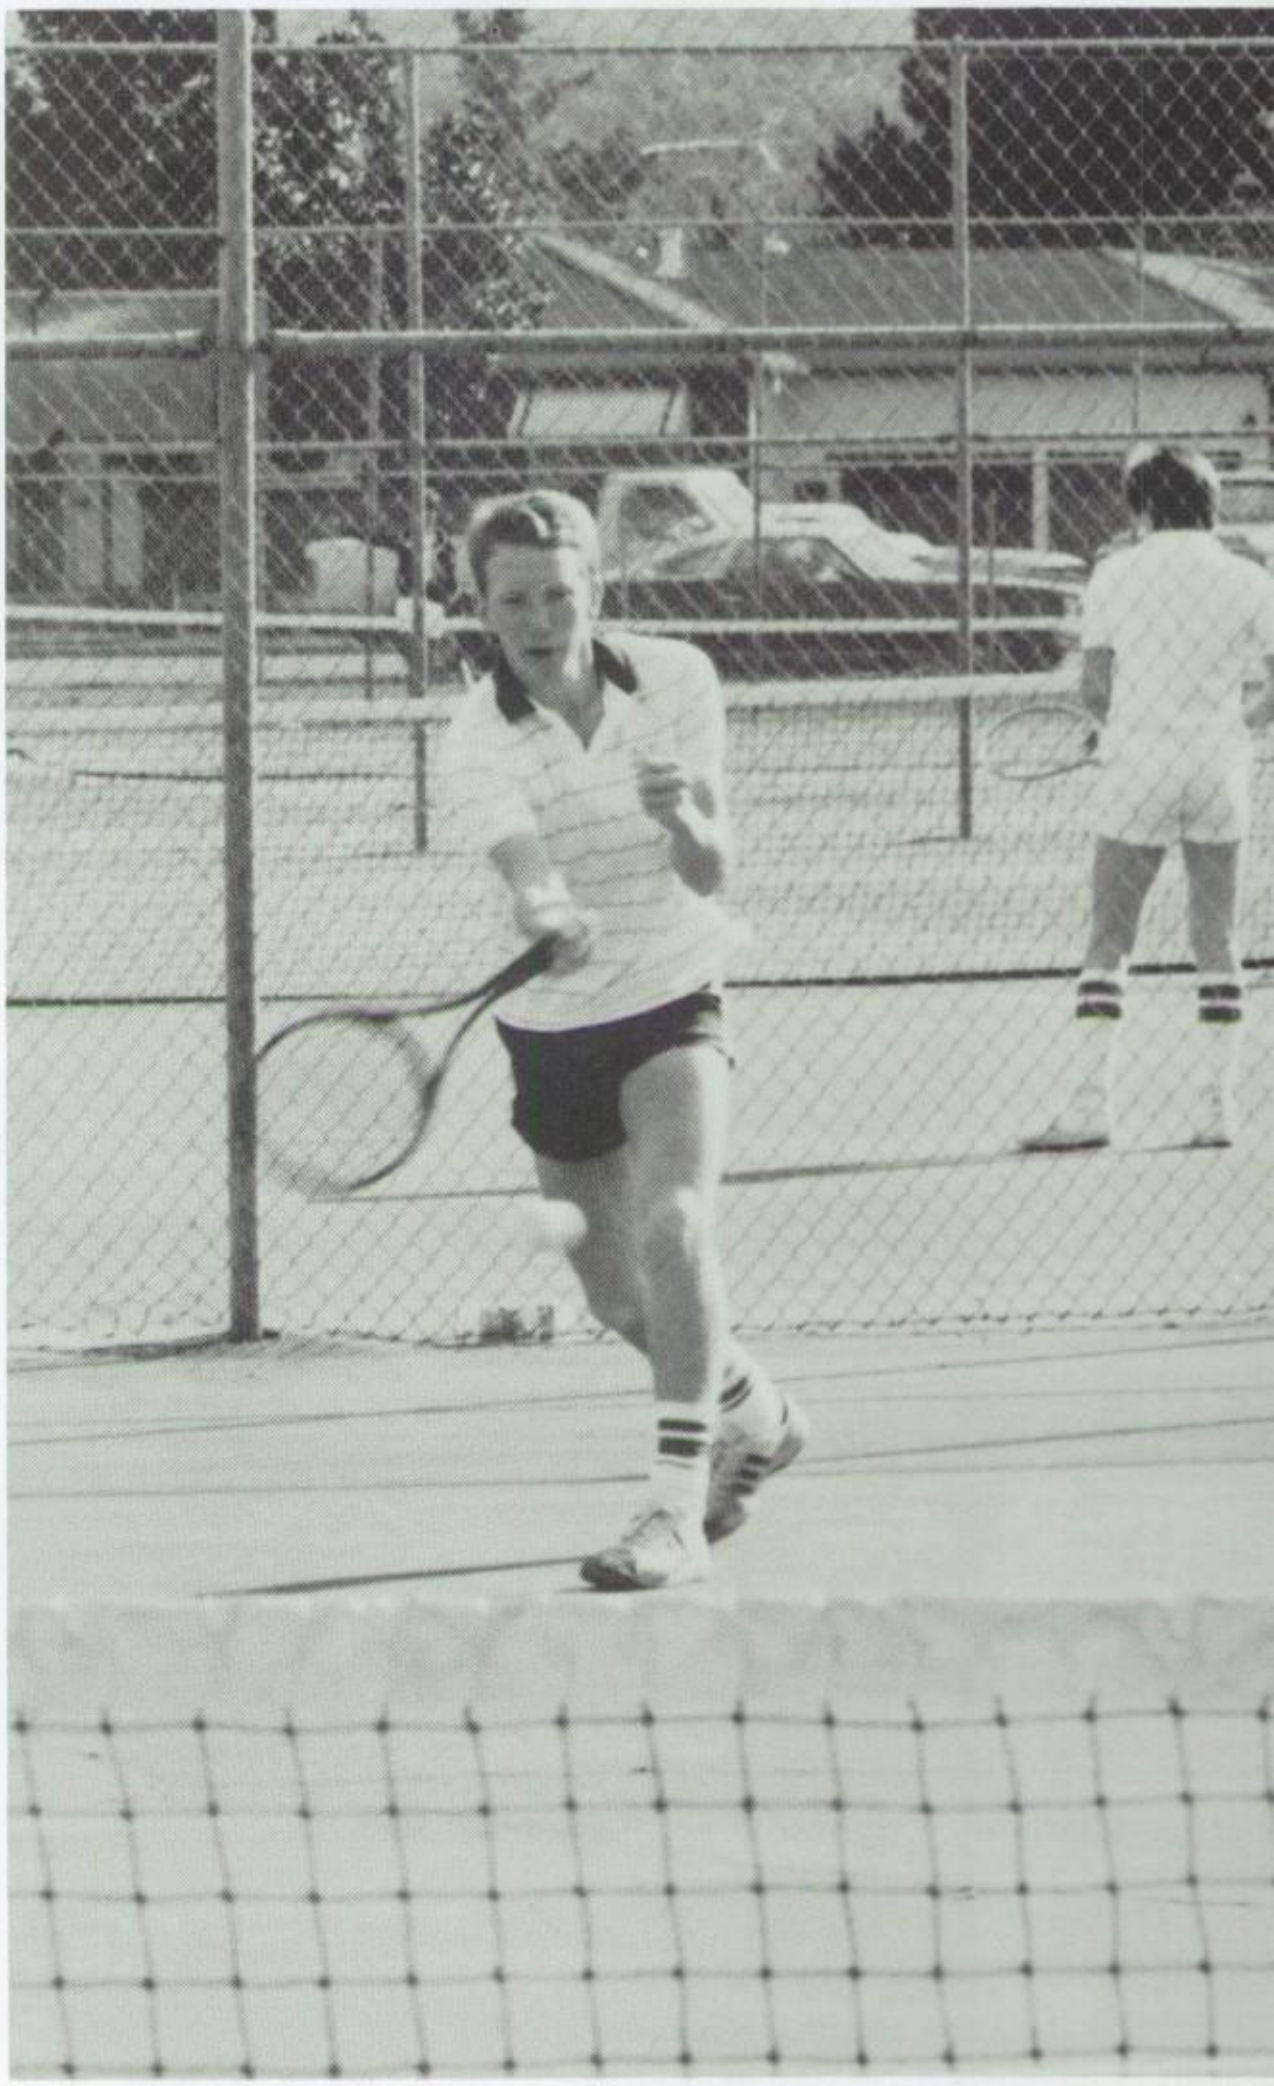
Boy's Tennis Swings Hard

The defending league champions moved through the season with determination and strength. With three starting freshmen, the young team played like old pros. The Fabulous Frosh Trio consisted of Steve Lupe, Greg Miller, and Stuart Spangler. The two best doubles teams in the league were on Valley's tennis team. They were Mike Pitroff and Stuart Spangler, and Dan Spalding and Brent Walker. At the top of the league, senior, Eric Mallick proved himself to be an outstanding player in the game.

Coach Kellner described the team as hard workers that hated to lose. These characteristics are what enabled the team to concentrate well, play hard and satisfy their desire to win. Every team in the incredibly strong league was a challenge, but Valley's outlook was great. With their youth and strength, they predict themselves champions for the next four years — at least!

Besides their strength and competitiveness, the' team was set apart by a special project headed up by Coach Kellner. This included handing out tracts to non-league schools explaining what the word "Christian" is all about. But more than tracts, their conduct on the courts is what really explained it.

Stuart Spangler was one of four freshmen to make the team.



Mark "Turnip" Johnson, a young man mastering the game of tennis, displays his flawless groundstrokes.

Be Quick, Tall, And Hit The Ball!

To be good at this game you've got to be tall, quick and willing to get on the floor a lot! Coach Larry Nardi held this true as he coached the Boy's Volleyball team in their third successful year. Although the team started off with many new players, Coach Nardi taught them the fundamentals and challenged them to work their hardest. "Unexperienced, but a strong desire to win," was how senior, Derek Maness, summed up the team. Derek, along with seniors, Brent Ahlquist, Matt Ericksen and Myron Friesen were the only returning players. Younger players that proved their talent early in the season were Brian Clemons, Andy Mandon, and Brad Friesen. The team's outstanding spikers were Derek Maness, Myron Friesen, and Brian Krenzin. They worked on their favorite challenge,-hitting the ball in the opponent's face. This is many times called the "6-pac" since it is an upheld tradition in college ball for the one hit in the face to buy the one who hit him a 6-pac of coke after the game. After losing two great setters from the previous season, senior, Brent Ahlquist, did an excellent job setting the ball and making up for the loss. Working hard for the Tuna Award was Danny Babel. The Tuna Award is bestowed upon the one who hits the net the most times during the season. Another tradition upheld was the McDonalds stop after every away game. This served to bring the team closer and just celebrate another great game!

Myron Friesen and Matt Ericksen go up for a block as Jon Brink stands ready.

Brent Ahlquist serves the ball over the net in a Liberty game.

After 25 Years, We Are Stil

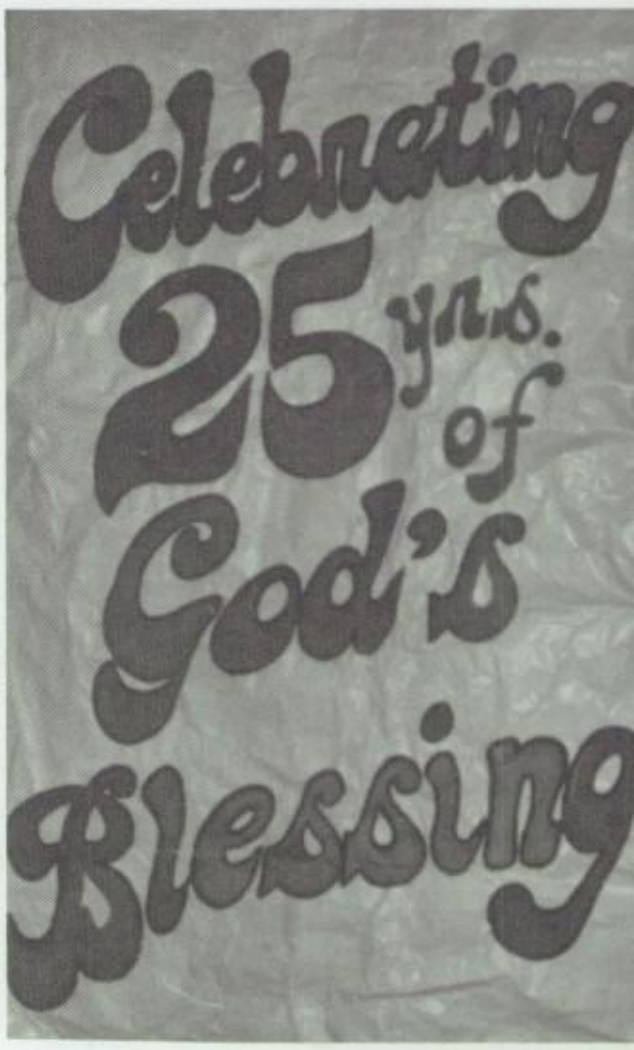
We are a Variety of people with a variety of thoughts, values and interests.

With Youth now and life ahead, we can smile and frown and smile again . . . all in the same day.

What I lack I find in you. We share and become an even greater variety.

Although Separate, we are joined by common goals and frustrations.

We are a variety . . . Yet, we are one.



One Of A Kind

We are no longer Jews or Greeks or slaves or free men or even merely men or women, but we are all the same—We are Christians; we are one in Christ Jesus.

The End . . .

As last summer ended we had many things to decide. Our theme was one of them. As we sat and thought, we realized that our school was different, unique. It was . . . "one of a kind".

When we first accepted the position of editors, we really didn't know what the year would entail. Now, reflecting on the past year we see a year of triumph and failure. We can clearly see that God was in control of the production of this book because we couldn't have made it without Him.

We would like to thank our great yearbook staff! Although the group was inexperienced like ourselves, they pulled their talents together to great this book. Times in yearbook were often frustrating, but when the frustrating times passed the fun and commradery began. Thank you Bob, Jon, Tim, Derek, Chris, Eric, John, Tam, Leah, Linn, Larry, Cameo, Carol, Todd, Debbie and Becky. A special thanks goes to Mr. Birdsall, a very patient and loving man. Thanks, Mr. Birdsall!

We stuck through all the deadlines and the problems we had, but it was worth it because this school really is "One of a Kind."

My love Concha,

There is so much to say. You are truely my best friend. I love you so much! We have gone through so much together, and through all those times we have never left each others sides. I'm glad I choose you to be my best friend because no body else compares to you! I'm glad I met you at the beginning of last year because that gave us just enough time to get to know each other and grow closed from there. And then there are always, you guessed it, the memories! The memories that we will never forget and that will linger in our mind forever! I can't just tell that we are going to have a great summer this year, and this time we'll do lots of stuff together. You are such a special person to me, know I dont have you tell you that now because I feel that way all the time. You're certain the definition of a true friend. I love ya lots! Can you believe were going to be upperclassmen. Juniors? yea. Finally we have made it. I'm so happy that you made yearbook for next year. But, you're going to have to tell me all the yearbook secrets that you were sworn not to tell, okay? Good. I can't wait for our birthdays, 16 years old, big, hot stuff now! Next you know we'll be on the road, you'll look to your left and you see me. B in the car next to you that will be the first time you will be happy to see him because you'll be so happy to be driving.

Connie.

Taco Salad maker? Can't have gotten to know you so much better this year and you are totally cute friend? We can always laugh & smile when you around. Am so glad you and me are friends? Let's do lots & stuff to-gether this summer.
When we get my license we can cruise around to see the taco places? We love that food don't we? Well
I'm glad I met you so much and am glad were friends Will have a fun summer? Love

Jenny

"Taco Woman"

P.S. Jen, you gotta save the taco shell's!
come on now, put on the sauce!

Connie -

I'm glad I met you & you are totally sweet. I think you are the nicest person in the world. I love and Care for you a lot.

Love ya

Chris

DEAR CONNIE,
WATCH OUT FOR THE BULLSHIT.

HEY SEXY!
IT'S BEEN GREAT HAVING YOU AS A FRIEND.
I'M SURE, I JUST MADE IT SOUND LIKE YOU WERE DYING. ANYWAY, YOU ARE A SUPER, FANTASTIC, BEAUTIFUL, WONDERFUL PERSON AND IT IS AN HONOR TO BE YOUR FRIEND. ANYWAY, WE HAVE TO DO STUFF THIS SUMMER. OR
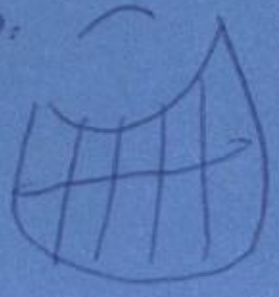
HAVE A GOOD VACA. AND TAKE CARE
OF YOURSELF CAUSE IF. ANYTHING HAPPENED
TO YOU I WOULD DIE. I LOVE
YA!
HAH HAH!

Ron Rumbaugh

P.S. :-)



I DON'T KNOW WHY I DREW THIS BUT I JUST FELT LIKE IT

AND REMEMBER...
BE ALL YOU CAN BE!
